

The Lavender Lab, an LGBTQ+ and BIPOC research lab at the University of Maryland, is inviting LGBTQ+ teens of color (ages 13-17) to join our paid confidential study, and we need your help! If you are the parent/guardian of a teen, or conduct work directly with teens, please share this information with anyone who may be interested!

Our study focuses on the resilience, stress, health, and overall well-being of LGBTQ+ teens of color. The results from this study will inform future interventions for our communities.

To participate you must be: a) LGBTQ+, b) 13-17 years old, and c) Black, Indigenous, or Person of Color.

Interested teens should complete this brief confidential eligibility form to find out more. If they're eligible, they will be paid a $15 gift card for participating in our study!

If you have any questions or want further information, please do not hesitate to reach out to us:

Email (lavenderlab@umd.edu)

Instagram (@lvndrlab)

Text: (301) 364-4986

You can also find out more about our work by viewing this short video.

Thank you for your support in helping us capture the experiences of LGBTQ+ teens of color!